READING FOR THE BLIND, BY W. MOON, LL.D.

INSTRUCTIONS.—In teaching the Alphabet, be careful to explain the alterations made in the letters, as indicated by the dotted lines. (See the note above the Alphabet.) The Reader should slowly pass the forefinger of his right hand straight along the line, not moving it up and down the letter. The first line is read from left to right, and the second from right to left, to prevent the reader losing his place. The Brackets guide the finger from line to line. Words ending in ing, went, two, and now, have the last letter put for the whole syllable, as g for ing, t for went, two, two dots, one above the other, giving notice of the contraction. The first letters of Lord, God, Jesus, and Christ, always stand for those holy names. Two dots, side by side, are used for a full stop, a single dot for any shorter stop. Verses are divided by two short lines, one above the other.

NOTE.—The dotted marks in the black-printed letters placed over the Alphabet show what portions of the common letter are taken away, in order to lay the Characters open and clear to the touch of the Blind.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF MANAGERS OF THE
PENNSYLVANIA HOME TEACHING SOCIETY AND FREE
CIRCULATING LIBRARY FOR THE BLIND.

READ AT THE ANNUAL MEETING
HELD IN THE BELLEVUE-STRATFORD HOTEL, PHILADELPHIA, PA.

FEBRUARY 5, 1912.

L. WEBSTER FOX, M.D., LL.D., IN THE CHAIR.

N EARLY thirty years have elapsed since Dr. William Moon, the blind inventor of the raised type for the blind, came from England to the United States for the purpose of introducing the plan of Home Teaching and the use of his own simple embossed type amongst the adult blind. He was accompanied by his daughter, Miss Moon, and the first place they visited was Philadelphia, where, with the assistance of prominent philanthropists of the city, they founded and organized, on May 26, 1882, the pioneer Home Teaching Society for the Blind in this country.

For sixteen years thereafter Mr. John P. Rhoads, the treasurer of the Philadelphia Bible Society, superintended the circulation of the embossed books in all parts of the United States and directed the work of the teacher employed to visit the blind and teach them to read.

In 1898 the Association was reorganized, and in 1901 it was incorporated, with the title of The Pennsylvania Home Teaching Society and Free Circulating Library for the Blind.

The work then commenced, has considerably extended its scope and usefulness. At the present time four teachers are engaged in Pennsylvania in instructing the blind and exchanging their embossed books. The exchanging of books has, however, been greatly facilitated since the passing of the Act of Congress, in 1904, which granted free postage for all embossed books loaned to the blind by public libraries and other institutions.

There are now 2494 volumes in the Society's library, 2158 of which are in the Moon type. During the past year many volumes in the Moon type, in American Braille, and in New York Point, have been added to the Library.

DR. WILLIAM MOON,
Inventor of Moon's Type for the Blind.

MISS MOON.

Miss Moon is successor to her father, Dr. William Moon, in conducting his Work for the Blind at Brighton, England.

The following table gives the number of books circulated from the Department of the Blind in the Free Library of Philadelphia during 1911 :

American Braille, . .	1,900 volumes
English Braille, . . .	77 volumes
Line Letter,	148 volumes
Moon Type,	12,908 volumes
New York Point, . .	152 volumes

Total, . . . 15,185 volumes

The Managers desire again to tender their thanks to the Trustees of the Free Library of Philadelphia for the kind help rendered in circulating the embossed books belonging to the Society, and also to Mr. Thomson, the Librarian, and Mrs. Delfino, who has charge of the Department for the Blind.

There are 521 active blind readers of embossed type upon the roll of the Free Library of Philadelphia, and 158 upon that of the Carnegie Library of Pittsburgh ; of these 38 are new readers.

To the circulation recorded above should be added that of the embossed books in the Carnegie Library, Pittsburgh, which amounts to 2,430, making the total distribution of books 17,615.

During the year 1911 the four teachers made 4402 visits to the blind in various parts of the Commonwealth. Mr. Moore, the senior teacher, who has been engaged in the work for twenty-three years, and Miss Howland, who has been similarly occupied for nine years, have met with continued encouragement and success in visiting the blind in the public institutions of this city, and also many who are living in their own homes. Mrs. Kennedy, who has been appointed Assistant Secretary to the Society, in addition to her usual duties has recently visited Lebanon, where she called on all the blind in the town and at the County Home, and taught those willing to learn to read with their fingers. The Managers greatly appreciate the kind notices given of her visit by the editors of the Lebanon newspapers.

Our work in Western Pennsylvania is progressing most satisfactorily. Your Secretary recently, when attending the Conference of the State Charities and Corrections, held in the Carnegie Institute, Pittsburgh, where he represented this Society, was much gratified in seeing the results of the good work done by Miss Quirk, our blind teacher in that city, and he also inspected the excellent arrangement made by the officials of the Carnegie Library for the storing and distribution of the 581 embossed books belonging to this Society. We feel much indebted to Mr. Harrison W. Craver, the Librarian, and to Miss Jessie Welles, the Superintendent of Circulation, for their deep and practical interest in the cause.

During his visit to Pittsburg your Secretary delivered a lecture on "Work with the Blind" in the Carnegie Library Hall, to a number of librarians and library students from all parts of the United States.

It is with much pleasure that the Board of Managers gratefully acknowledges the appropriation of $8000 made by the Legislature of Pennsylvania towards the maintenance of the Society's work for the two years from June 1, 1911, to June 1, 1913. Such help is greatly needed, for, as the work extends, its expenses increase in the employment of teachers and the purchase of more embossed books for free circulation. It is the intention of the Board of Managers to install another teacher at an early date.

Much attention has been given by the Board to building up the Society's Library by increasing the number of books embossed in the various types to meet the growing demands of the blind readers.

As the teachers give instruction to their pupils not only in the Moon type, but in the dotted types also, and there being many who have in their youth learned in the various schools to read by means of one of the various dotted types, the Managers of this Society, in selecting embossed books for the Library, have added, during the past year, books in other types besides the Moon, the desire being to provide for the needs of blind readers of all ages and conditions. More new books in the dotted types will be placed upon the shelves of our Library as the Society's funds may permit.

It is an interesting fact that those who can read a dotted type in addition to the Moon, return with pleasure to the reading of the smoother Moon type, for, as one of our readers wrote to us a short time since, "Reading the Moon type is a pleasure—reading the dotted types is a business."

An experience of thirty years has demonstrated not only the need of such a Society as this, but the great blessing which it confers upon the sightless portion of the community. When a man loses his eyesight, he too often becomes depressed and regards the future with despair; but if the Home Teacher calls upon him, he is taught to read, and in the course of conversation realizes that there is hope for him yet—there is some one who is interested in him, some one who can help him to rise out of his despondent condition. The occupation of reading diverts the sufferer's mind from brooding over his deprivation, and by degrees he is able to take a brighter view of his situation and prospects.

Such is the work which this Society aims to accomplish. The blind testify for themselves what a boon this Society has conferred upon them. One of our readers recently wrote: "Please accept my heartfelt thanks for the many hours of enjoyment spent in reading your Society's publications."

A blind man says in a letter recently received: "I have been reading the Moon type for twenty years, and I fully appreciate the great blessing it has brought to me in my education, happiness and comfort."

The mother of one of our readers who recently died writes in a letter to the Secretary: "How often my daughter asked me to write to you and tell you how much she appreciated your kindness in sending Miss Howland to instruct her in reading and knitting, which helped to keep her thoughts away from her affliction."

During the past year we lost one of our most appreciative readers. His daughter wrote, saying: "Although nearly eighty-five years of age when he became blind, father was enabled, under the kindly instruction of Mrs. Kennedy, to learn the Moon type and to read without difficulty in a very short time. It is needless for me to say that the embossed books afforded him many happy hours which otherwise would have been desolate. The Moon system, by reason of its simplicity, is certainly a great boon to the blind, and I feel very grateful for the happiness my late father derived from it."

Another reader says: "I wish to thank you for sending Mr. Moore to instruct my father to read. He is seventy-two years old, and has been able to learn to read the Moon system. He has been blind three years and reading is the only thing he has to occupy his mind, and it is also the one great pleasure left to him."

We have quoted but a few of very many testimonies of a similar character from our blind readers and their friends.

The Society much appreciates the kindness of the Hon. E. Dana Durand, the Director of the Census Bureau at Washington, for his kindness in providing us with a list of the blind in the State of Pennsylvania, as shown by the census of 1910.

We have also the pleasure of acknowledging gifts of embossed volumes and pamphlets in various embossed types from Mrs. James M. Earle, Mr. Thos. S. McAloney, Mr. August Krapf, Society for the Promotion of Church Work Among the Blind, Delaware Workers for the Blind, Mr. F. P. Demier, Miss Lizzie Naylor, Mrs. E. J. Stewart, Estate of W. Shill, Mrs. B. W. Rogers, Mr. O. H. Burritt and Mr. Wm. Klinefelter.

LIGHT AND DARKNESS.

A blind visitor reading from an embossed book in the Moon type.

Your Secretary had the honor of again representing this Society at the Triennial Conference for the Blind, which was held in June last in the ancient city of Exeter, England. It was most gratifying to witness the cordiality which prevailed at the Conference, and the evident desire of all who were present to benefit by the experience of others, with the determination to co-operate heartily for the common good of the blind. It was also remarkable how the demand for State aid for the blind, both as to employment and pensions, had gained in popular favor since the previous Conference, held in Manchester in 1908. Frequent opportunities were offered to your Secretary for referring to the work of this Society, and much interest was manifested in its operation of Home Teaching and the loaning of books to the blind.

We gratefully record that during the past year several individuals have kindly contributed towards the half cost of stereotyping special books in the Moon type. The other half of the cost is met by the Moon Society, Brighton, England.

Whilst we regret to have to record the death of Judge Pereles, who for several years contributed $50 annually towards the stereotyping of some new work in the Moon type, it is with much pleasure that we announce that his widow has kindly promised to continue his contribution. The title of the work recently chosen is "Exploring the Ocean's Floor," by Sir John Murray.

In the Report read at our last annual meeting we earnestly pleaded, as on former occasions, for help towards publishing several much-needed new books in the Moon type. In eloquent terms the Rt. Rev. Ethelbert Talbot, the Bishop of Bethlehem, and Mr. John Thomson, the esteemed Librarian of the Free Library of Philadelphia, emphasized the necessity of raising a special fund for the stereotyping of "A Tale of Two Cities" and "The Rosary." The appeal was at once responded to by Mrs. L. Webster Fox, who, through correspondence and the gathering together of friends at an entertainment held in the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel, Philadelphia, on April 18th, raised $2500, of which sum the Dickens Fellowship of Philadelphia contributed $100 and Mr. John E. Baird $100.. This sum was sufficient to defray the half cost of stereotyping the following new works :

A Tale of Two Cities,	Charles Dickens.
The Rosary,	Florence Barclay.
Far in the Forest,	S. Weir Mitchell, M. D.
Melody,	Laura Richards.
The Worth of Service,	Leigh Mitchell Hodges.
The Master of the Inn,	Robert Herrick.
The Wood Carver of 'Lympus, . .	Mary E. Waller.
Three of the Idylls of the King, . .	Alfred Tennyson.

Almost all of these works have already been completed and placed in circulation, much to the delight of the blind, who eagerly anticipate the pleasure of reading new literature as it appears.

At the entertainment in April the proposition was made and favorably received, that each one then present should contribute at least one dollar before the close of each year towards the preparation of some new book in the Moon embossed type as a Christmas gift to the blind.

The second appeal to Mrs. Webster Fox's friends was started in November last and has resulted in the collection of $750, of which the sum of $330 was contributed by Mrs. Joseph Drexel towards the cost of stereotyping "The Vicar of Wakefield." It is with deep regret that we have to record the recent loss by death of this benevolent and generous friend to the charitable institutions of our city.

The Board of Managers desires to express its hearty thanks to Mrs. Webster Fox for her splendid effort on behalf of the Blind, and it is to be hoped that when this comes to the knowledge of other ladies of influence, they may feel disposed to help the cause in a similar way.

In consequence of the death of many former contributors, the list of annual subscribers to the Society has not kept pace with the growth of the work. The Board earnestly appeals for more annual subscribers, and again draws attention to the forms of bequest which are printed on the back cover of the report of the Society.

THE PUBLICATION FUND.

The Board of Managers having for a long time realized how limited was the stock of literature for the blind, and how great was the need of more embossed books, determined a few years ago to raise a Publication Fund of $100,000, which, when invested, would yield an income sufficient to publish periodically a series of new embossed works in the Moon type.

As the Treasurer's statement shows that a comparatively small portion of this amount has been realized, and as it has been decided that no use shall be made of the fund until the sum of at least $10,000 has been raised, every effort should be made during the coming year to complete that amount.

Whilst millions of printed books for the seeing are never even opened, not one embossed book for the blind lies unread—in fact, some of our blind readers have read every book in the Moon type twice and even three times over. It is difficult to estimate the great relief from the tedium of perpetual darkness which is found in reading with the finger tips.

When we realize that there are but a few hundred books in the raised print provided for the blind to enjoy, it would seem hardly necessary to urge any further plea for help to meet this great need of more books for the blind.

FREE POSTAGE FOR BLIND READERS.

When the books are returned through the mails, they should be directed to the address of the library from which they have been received, and to secure free transmission care should be taken to comply strictly with the regulations prescribed in the following Order of the Postmaster General, issued in 1904 :

ORDER OF THE POSTMASTER GENERAL.

OFFICE OF THE POSTMASTER GENERAL,

Order No. 541.

Washington, D. C., June 2, 1904.

Chapter 2, Title III, of the Postal Laws and Regulations is hereby amended by the addition of the following subdivision :

V.—READING MATTER FOR THE BLIND.

Sec. 518½. Books, pamphlets, and other reading matter in raised characters for the use of the blind, whether prepared by hand or printed in single volumes, not exceeding ten pounds in weight, or in packages not exceeding four pounds in weight and containing no advertising or other matter whatever, unsealed and when sent by public institutions for the blind, or by any public libraries, as a loan to blind readers, or when returned by the latter to such institutions or public libraries, shall be transmitted in the United States mails free of postage, and under such regulations as the Postmaster General may prescribe. (Act of April 27, 1904.)

2. Reading matter in raised characters for the use of the blind, to be entitled to transmission in the mails free of postage, must not contain any advertising or other matter whatever, and must in every case be sent by or returned to a public library or public institution for the blind.

3. When mailed by a public library or public institution for the blind, the matter must be sent as a loan to a blind reader. When mailed for return to a public library or public institution for the blind, the sender must be a blind reader.

4. The matter must be wrapped so that it may be easily examined.

5. No package is to weigh more than four pounds, except in case of a single volume, and it must not exceed ten pounds in weight.

6. On the upper left hand corner of the envelope or wrapper containing the matter the name and address of the sender must appear, and on the upper right hand corner the word "Free" over the words "Reading Matter for the Blind."

NOTE.—Letters written in point print or raised characters used by the blind are not included in the reading matter entitled, under the provisions of this section, to free transmission in the mails. (See section 475.)

H. C. PAYNE, Postmaster General.

Friends of the blind are asked to send the names and addresses of any blind persons of whom they know, to the Secretary, Dr. Robert C. Moon (617 Witherspoon Building, Philadelphia, Pa.), and they will be promptly visited by one of the teachers.
